OUR MARKET

We are inserted in the Digital Money Market. By definition, we are a Fintech: a term that came from the union of the words financial and technology. Fintechs are mostly startups that work to innovate and optimize services in the financial system.

With an average annual growth of 22.17% over the next five years, the annual fintech market is expected to reach 2023 with a turnover of around US$305.7 billion. This is the forecast from market research provider ResearchAndMarkets.com.
